OFSTED 2023

Expert training from classroom-based professionals

Our general professional studies lectures are led by experts in their field, working 'on the ground', at the forefront of educational developments. These include subject days, broader teaching concepts and pastoral needs.

100% employment following training

All of our current trainees and alumni have secured employment following training, many in their host or away placement schools.

"Throughout my role as head teacher, I've employed 7 trainee teachers who had gone on to have such a positive impact on our school. I know that any trainee I employ will have received the best training and will be a real asset to my staffing body. "

Clear documentation and support for mentors

“The support paperwork provided not only gives trainees a clear structure and framework to the course, it also allows mentors to quickly understand the trainee's progress and next steps. The weekly mentor bulletin gives structure, focus and pace to the course keeping the trainees on track. The optional weekly drop-in session for mentors is invaluable when advice is needed. This allows mentors to give trainees the best guidance. “

Ongoing support throughout your whole career

Through close connections with the Xavier Teaching School hub, we continue to support our trainees through all their next steps, from your ECT years to NPQs and niche CPD...

“St Polycarp's links with Xavier meant that my transition from trainee teacher to ECT was really smooth and there were some familiar faces to support my professional development. I know they are always available to support me in my next steps, both at this point in my career and with my future prospects.”

Pavlina, ECT

“Training at St Polycarp's has opened up so many wonderful opportunities for me, while still early on in my career. From becoming English lead, to completing an NPQ and taking on phase leadership, the training environment and mentors were always highly supportive and allowed me to develop the skills and confidence I needed to succeed in my current role.”

Chrissy, Year 5/6 Phase Leader

Routes available

Fee paying

We have 3 routes available to fee-paying trainees.

QTS only: this can be undertaken on a fulltime or part-time basis, agreed with your host school. You need qualified teacher status (QTS) to teach in most schools in England.

Assessment: completed through end of term reviews and lesson observation.

PGCE with QTS: undertaken on a fulltime basis. Accredited by University of Sussex, the PGCE provides a stronger grounding in educational research and academic theory. It is an internationally recognised qualification and is the better option if you may want to teach overseas. It also counts as 60 credits towards a masters. There are 8 additional lectures.

Assessment: in addition to end of term reviews and observation, you will complete one assignment and one professional conversation.

	QTS only Fulltime	QTS only Part-time	PGCE with QTS Fulltime
Cost	£8196	£11,268	£9535
Weekly time requirement	4 days in school 1 day training*	2 days in school 1 day training*	4 days in school 1 day training*
Duration	1 year	Maximum 2 years	1 year

* there are some weeks where you may have more training

Apprenticeships

If you have experience of working in a school, your school may be willing to support your training through an apprenticeship. The expectations for this differ in that you will have your own class and be paid as an apprentice. This route may be suitable for HLTAs, unqualified teachers and LSAs.

Due to the nature of the program, this is usually offered to grant QTS only.

SEND enhanced

Through an exclusive partnership with Ridgeway Farnham, we can offer training in preparation for a job in specialist settings. This will involve specialist training and a placement in one of our specialist settings.

“You are guided through your training by excellent mentors, and surrounded by excellent teachers.”

FAQs

Should I do PGCE or QTS only?

This entirely depends on you. QTS is the required qualified teaching status to teach in England. The PGCE qualification comes with QTS plus Masters credits which grounds your practice in theory.

My degree isn't related to the National Curriculum. Does that matter?

Not at all, we accept applications from all candidates who meet the qualifications.

How much time do I need to spend in school before applying?

Spending time in school will reinforce your decision to become a teacher but there is no requirement to spend time in school before making an application.

What are the working hours?

This varies dependent on school, however standard working hours are 8-4:30. Outside of this, you will be required to attend specific meetings such as weekly staff meetings. You can also volunteer your time for wider school experiences, such as Christmas Fairs. Your placement schools would discuss this in further

I don't have one of my GCSEs. Can I still apply?

Absolutely! The GCSE requirements need to be met by the beginning of the course and we are able to offer opportunities to take equivalency tests.

Can I get financial support?

Please contact us directly to discuss the finances for each of the options we have to offer.

I haven't finished my degree. Can I still apply?

Of course and in these circumstances any offer on the course would be conditional to your successful completion of your degree.
